

Application-layer integrity and temporal control for centralized state registries

Verification detects protected-field modification; same-domain evidence alone does not prove completeness or freshness.

Measured concurrency profiles reflect evidence-persistence semantics

